FACTS

14. On May 27, 2015, at approximately 2:27 a.m., plaintiff was in the courtyard of his apartment building, located at 455 Barbey Street, Brooklyn while speaking with neighbors.

15. Police Officer Michael Andolino, Police Officer Todd Hansen, and Sergeant Henry Daverin, began running towards plaintiff Antrone Nelson while he was merely in the courtyard of his own apartment building.

16. None of the defendant police officers were wearing uniforms, nor did any of the defendant officers announce themselves as police officers.

17. Plaintiff was unaware of who the defendant police officers were and attempted to run from them.

18. Defendant police officers caught plaintiff Antrone Nelson and struck him about the head and body with their fists and a flashlight. At one point, one of the defendant police officers grabbed plaintiff Antrone Nelson by the back of the head and slammed his face into a brick wall. This illegal action caused one of plaintiff Antrone Nelson's teeth to be broken in half.

19. One of defendant police officers then took out handcuffs and grabbed plaintiff.

20. As a result of defendant police officers' actions, plaintiff Antrone Nelson suffered serious physical pain. Although plaintiff Antrone Nelson notified defendant police officers that he was in severe pain, defendant police officers refused to provide him with any medical care or assistance.

21. Plaintiff Antrone Nelson was transported to the 75th precinct located at 1000 Sutter Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

22. On or about May 28, 2015, plaintiff was charged with Penal Law section 195.05 obstructing governmental administration in the second degree and Penal Law section 190.23 false personation.

23. Subsequently, all charges against plaintiff were adjourned in contemplation of dismissal.

24. As a result, the plaintiff's criminal case was dismissed and sealed.

25. Less than one week later, on May 31, 2015, the same defendant police officers came to plaintiff Antrone Nelson's apartment building courtyard. While plaintiff watched the defendants from his window, the same defendant police officer who had broken his tooth taunted him about said tooth, asking plaintiff, "How's your tooth?" Plaintiff was inside of his home when this harassment occurred.

FIFTH CAUSE OF ACTION

Municipal Liability
(Against Defendant City)

41. Plaintiff repeats, reiterates, and realleges each and every allegation contained in paragraphs numbered "1" through "40" with the same force and effect as if fully set forth herein.

42. The City's continuing failure to deter police misconduct has led to ever increasing numbers of lawsuits for repeated misconduct by the same officers, same units, and same precincts. In the fiscal year of 2012, there were 2,004 tort cases commenced against the New York City Police Department, up from 1,425 tort cases commenced for the fiscal year of 2008.<sup>1</sup> The City of New York paid approximately $500 million for torts against the New York City Police Department between 2009 and 2014<sup>2</sup>, peaking in fiscal year of 2009 when it paid out more than $117 million.<sup>1</sup> In the past ten years, the City of New York has paid nearly a billion dollars on lawsuits brought against the NYPD.<sup>3</sup>

43. The widely held assumption is that civil rights lawsuits deter police misconduct. "The purpose of § 1983 is to deter state actors from using the badge of their authority to deprive individuals of their federally guaranteed rights and to provide relief to victims if such deterrence fails." Wyatt v. Cole, 504 U.S. 158, 161, (1992) citing Carey v. Piphus, 435 U.S. 247, 254-257, (1978). "As far as we know, civil liability is an effective deterrent [to civil rights violations], as we have assumed it is in other contexts." See Hudson v. Michigan 547 U.S. 586, 598 (2006) citing Correctional Services Corp. v. Malesko, 534 U.S. 61, 70 (2001) and Nix v. Williams, 467 U.S. 431, 446, (1984). "It is almost axiomatic that the threat of damages has a deterrent effect (citation omitted) surely particularly so when the individual official faces personal financial liability." Carlson v. Green, 446 U.S. 14, 21, (1980), citing Imbler v. Pachtman, 424 U.S. 409, 442, and footnote 6 (1976).

<sup>3</sup> "NYPD gives quite the payday; AP report reveals police have dolled out $1B to resolve lawsuits," by Associated Press Writers Colleen Long and Jennifer Peltz via Daily News wire Report, <http://www.nydailynews.com/new-york/nypd-payday-ap-report-reveals-police-dolled-1b-resolve-lawsuits-article-1.189671>, October 15, 2010 last visited on January 27, 2014.

44. However, the City of New York has isolated NYPD officers like Police Officer Michael Ardolino, Police Officer Todd Hansen, and Sergeant Henry Daverin from accountability for civil rights lawsuits by indemnifying officers who violate the constitutional rights of citizens, and, as a result, is preventing civil rights lawsuits from having any deterrent value to the City, the NYPD or its officers. Civil rights lawsuits against police officers have no impact on the officers' careers, regardless of the expense to the City of the officers' lawsuit liability, even after multiple lawsuits. In 1999, former Comptroller Alan Hevesi reported that there was a "a total disconnect" between the settlements of even substantial civil claims and police department action against officers.<sup>4</sup> This "total disconnect" between officers' liability and NYPD discipline, results in a system where the City pays vast sums to settle false arrests, but the NYPD does nothing to investigate nor address the underlying causes of such false arrests or officers who have incurred large sums of civil rights liability.

45. The City Council, Government Operations Committee, despite being alerted at a City Council hearing on December 12, 2009, and on other occasions, to the obvious problem of officers and precincts with a disproportionate responsibility for civil rights lawsuit liability, has failed to take action to hold officers or precincts accountable. It has likewise failed to hold an investigative hearing into what extent specific officers, units and precincts are disproportionately responsible for New York City civil rights lawsuits.

46. The 75th Precinct of the New York City Police Department stands above the rest in its history of civil rights violations. According to the City Comptroller's Office fiscal year report for 2014, over 200 Civilian Complaint Review Board complaints were made against the 75th

Precinct, the only precinct in the entire city to top 200 CCRB complaints in 2014.<sup>5</sup> In addition to prior complaints and lawsuits, the City has been aware for some time, from lawsuits, notices of claim, complaints filed with the Civilian Complaint Review Board, and judicial rulings suppressing evidence and finding officers incredible as a matter of law, that a disturbing number of their police officers from the 75th precinct unlawfully search and seize citizens, bring charges against citizens with no legal basis, perjure themselves in charging instruments and testimony, and fail to intervene in and report the obviously illegal actions of their fellow officers.

47. Nevertheless, the City has repeatedly resisted attempts to catalog even basic information gleaned from civil rights lawsuits that could improve training, leadership, supervision, and discipline in the NYPD. The City's deliberate indifference towards the contents of civil rights litigation, individual officers repeatedly named in lawsuits, incidents repeatedly occurring in the same division, and patterns of misconduct that arise in civil rights litigation has caused the constitutional violations of excessive force and false arrest suffered by plaintiff.

48. Further, the City has no procedure to notify individual officers or their supervisors of unfavorable judicial review of their conduct or to calculate the total liability of an individual officer or of a precinct. Without this notification, improper search and seizure practices and incredible testimony go uncorrected, problematic supervision or leadership at the precinct level goes ignored, and repeated misconduct by individual officers goes unaccounted for. Even occasional judicial findings that officers have testified incredibly are not reported routinely to the police department or any oversight agencies.

49. All of the aforementioned has created a climate where police officers and detectives lie to prosecutors and in police paperwork and charging instruments, and testify falsely, with no fear of reprisal. "Informal inquiry by the court and among the judges of this court, as well as knowledge of cases in other federal and state courts, has revealed anecdotal evidence of repeated, widespread falsification by arresting police officers of the New York City Police Department. Despite numerous inquiries by commissions and strong reported efforts by the present administration-through selection of candidates for the police force stressing academic and other qualifications, serious training to avoid constitutional violations, and strong disciplinary action within the department-there is some evidence of an attitude among officers that is sufficiently widespread to constitute a custom or policy by the city approving illegal conduct of the kind now charged." See Colon v. City of New York, et al, 2009 WL 4263362 (E.D.N.Y.) (Weinstein, J.).

50. In Floyd v. City of New York, 08-cv-01034-SAS-HBP, Judge Scheindlin found that the City acted with "deliberate indifference toward the NYPD's practice of making unconstitutional stops and conducting unconstitutional frisks" and adopted "a policy of indirect racial profiling by targeting racially defined groups for stops based on local crime suspect data." (Opinion and Order, dated August 12, 2013, P.13).

51. The City is aware that all of the aforementioned has resulted in violations of citizens' constitutional rights. Despite such notice, the City has failed to take corrective action. This failure and these policies caused the officers in the present case to violate plaintiffs' civil rights, without fear of reprisal.

52. Plaintiff has been damaged as a result of the deliberate indifference of the Defendant City.

SIXTH CAUSE OF ACTION

New York Common Law
(Against all Defendants)

53. Plaintiff repeats, reiterates, and realleges each and every allegation contained in paragraphs numbered “1” through “52” with the same force and effect as if fully set forth herein.

54. By the actions described above, the City and each and every Individual Officer Defendant, jointly and severally, has committed the following wrongful acts against Plaintiff, which are tortious under the laws of the State of New York:

- a. False arrest;
- b. Assault and battery;

55. The foregoing acts and conduct of defendants were a direct and proximate cause of injury and damage to plaintiff and violated the common law rights guaranteed to her by the laws of the State of New York.

SEVENTH CAUSE OF ACTION

Respondeat Superior
(Against the City of New York)

56. Plaintiff repeats, reiterates, and realleges paragraphs “1” through “55” as if fully set forth herein.

57. The Individual Officer Defendants were employees of the City at the time of the incidents alleged herein and each was acting at all relevant times within the scope of his or her employment with the City.

58. The City is therefore vicariously liable for the tortious acts as described and alleged herein of the Individual Officer Defendants under the common law doctrine of respondeat superior.

59. As a result of the foregoing, plaintiff Antrone Nelson is entitled to compensatory damages in an amount to be determined by a jury and is further entitled to punitive damages against the individual defendants in an amount to be determined by a jury.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff demands a jury trial and the following relief jointly and severally against the defendants:

- a. Compensatory damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- b. Punitive damages in an amount to be determined by a jury;
- c. Costs, interest and attorney's fees, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. §1988; and
- d. Such other and further relief as this Court may deem just and proper, including injunctive and declaratory relief.
